

DEAD BURGLAR IS BERT WILLMORE.

He Was the Partner of Abe Majors and Was Sent to Prison for Cracking Safes in Oakland.

BERT WILLMORE, THE OAKLAND BURGLAR WHO WAS KILLED BY THE POLICE IN ALAMEDA.

A thrilling sequel swiftly follows the nocturnal battle with burglars which shocked and paralyzed all Alameda during the early hours of yesterday morning. The sequel is as startling and shocking as was that battle.

The dead young burglar who lies in the Alameda morgue on Park street awaiting tonight's inquest, who fell by the revolver shots of Chief of Police John Conrad, is Bert Willmore, the last of the Abe Majors gang of Alameda county young ruffians whose burglarious depredations terrorized Oakland and Alameda some four or five years ago.

The man in custody in the Alameda jail is C. C. Sullivan, who in 1882 was sentenced in Fresno for murder in the second degree to fifty years in Folsom prison.

Chief Conrad has succeeded with commendable promptness in identifying both these criminals, who gave himself and his entire force such an exciting chase and desperate resistance.

Willmore was in Folsom at the same time as Sullivan.

The former for ten years for his Oakland burglaries. Both were pardoned by Governor Budd on December 24, 1893.

Abe Majors, the partner of this dead criminal, is now in Ogden, Utah, under sentence of death for the murder of an officer in that State, awaiting the circumlocution of the processes for a new trial.

EMBRACED THE DEAD.

Since their pardon Sullivan, up to three or four days ago, has been working as common labor in Fresno, and young Willmore has been working as an electrician in the Emporium in San Francisco.

The mother and sister of Willmore are living in San Francisco and it is now certain that the stylishly dressed young woman who called at the Alameda jail shortly after midnight this morning, and in the presence of the solitary night watch passionately embraced the clammy form and put up prayers over it was the sister.

MAJORS' PARDON.

Abe Majors was pardoned out at the same time with Willmore from a ten years' sentence for the Oakland burglaries. Both at that time confessed to the authorship of twenty-two burglaries in Oakland, and to having entered nine stores and houses in one night in Alameda.

WILLMORE'S MOTHER.

The mother of Bert Willmore was arrested on a charge of receiving stolen property and discharged for lack of sufficient evidence to convict.

The police are now satisfied that there were only two burglars engaged in the fight of yesterday morning and have given up their search for the mysterious third one.

Officer George Brown, who rendered effective service on his bicycle in running down the robbers and had a hand to hand struggle with them, has contracted a severe cold and is laid up at his home on Railroad avenue, near Second street with threatened pneumonia.

Officer James E. Hickey, who lost the tips of two fingers of his right hand from one of the shots of young Willmore, is suffering the most from the severe contusion of his left shoulder while retreating under fire over the ten foot fence in the rear of the assailed jewelry store of A. O. Gott.

THE PRISONER MAKES A CONFESSION AND GIVES HIS RECORD.

C. C. Sullivan, the burglar survivor of the raid of Gott's store and the battle with the Alameda police, broke down and made a confession at 7 o'clock last evening to Chief of Police Conrad, in the presence of Sheriff Rogers and Detective Henry Holland. He admitted his identity with the Willmore case and said that he had nothing to hope for from further reticence.

He also confirmed the identification of his dead comrade, about which there was Remarkable Case of a Boy Who Was Given Every Chance to Reform--Pardoned by Governor.

He was living with his mother in this city when a young boy. One day he ran away from home and was arrested and locked up in the County Jail. There he learned for the first time the secret of his mother's sorrow and the shadow on his face.

He learned that his father was a murderer; that he had been hanged in the very cell where his mother spent his last days, and that his father had been executed in the jail yard for the murder of John Reynolds at Los Angeles.

Lloyd Majors, the father, planned the brutal murder of Reynolds and had two men, named "Jewell" and "Shaw", carry out the murder. They tortured Reynolds to try and get his money; then shot him and burned his body. Jewell was hanged; Shaw was sent to Folsom for life, as he turned Shaw's evidence.

At Folsom prison Abe Majors met the man who sent him to the gallows. After Abe Majors heard the story of his father's crime in the County Jail, he came out of prison a criminal at heart.

MAJORS WAS ENGAGED TO MARRY PRETTY MISS WILLMORE.

Bert Willmore, the dead burglar, at one time lived with his mother on Webster street in this city. He attended the Oakland public schools.

He became acquainted with Abe Majors while in prison, and was with him in the jail when the boys were planning the robbery of the Central Bank building.

It was through the efforts of a number of charitable ladies in this city that the boys were pardoned.

Young Majors was deeply in love with Miss Willmore and it was said that at one time she was engaged to marry him. The young man was very handsome and the engagement, when the boys got out of prison they separated and Abe went East.

WILLMORE IS THE LAST OF A GANG OF DESPERATE ROBBERS.

Bert Willmore was associated with Abe Majors in the boldest series of robberies that ever startled Oakland. Among them were the breaking into Charles Butler's office at the water front, into the Pioneer Soda Works on Fourteenth and Webster streets, the coal killing of J. E. Taylor and the following of the safe in the Girard's store--then in the Central Bank building.

It was for the last of these crimes that the young man was convicted and sentenced by Judge York of Los Angeles, sitting in this court, to Folsom for ten years, from which he was pardoned out by Governor Budd, on the plea of their tender years, last December.

Willmore, at that time, February, 1893, was 25 and Abe Majors was 16 years of age. Willmore was a candy maker and Majors a bell boy. Besides these burglaries they had perpetrated others on Telegraph avenue and San Pablo avenue, amounting to twenty-two in Oakland, besides nine committed or attempted in one night in Alameda.

Since their parole Archie Majors was killed in an encounter with the authorities in Utah, after he and Abe had robbed a peddler.

It was on this occasion that Abe Majors killed Police Captain Brown of Ogden, for which he has been convicted and sentenced to death, electing to be shot. He is now awaiting the result of an appeal from this sentence to the Supreme Court.

Bert Willmore, therefore, may be pronounced the last of the criminals ever known to Oakland and Alameda.

MISS WILLMORE WEEPS AT THE BIER OF THE DEAD ROBBER.

Last evening just before midnight a young woman called at the Alameda morgue and asked to see the body of the dead burglar.

She was granted that privilege.

She knelt beside the body and prayed fervently.

Then she wept quietly.

Presently she fondly kissed the dead form and quickly departed.

The young woman was Miss Willmore, a sister of the dead man.

LEARNED THE STORY OF HIS FATHER'S CRIME WHILE IN JAIL.

Abe Majors, who was the partner of Bert Willmore in his crimes in this city, believed that there was a curse on him.

McKINLEY NOW A BRICKLAYER. Proud of His Honorary Membership in the Union.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire. CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—President McKinley had scarcely finished breakfast this morning when a delegation of laboring men reached the Audubon. The President was closeted with them for half an hour. The party was made up principally of members of the Bricklayers' and Stone Masons' Union, which made the President an honorary member of their organization.

President Gubbins of the Union, in conversation, mentioned the "Bricklayers' organization."

"Our organization, if you please, don't forget me," smiled Mr. McKinley, and the committee promised that they would always be remembered as a full-fledged union bricklayer and stone mason.

The President asked many questions relative to the conditions of Chicago's laboring people and expressed pleasure that they were feeling the effects of prosperity.

McKINLEY A UNION MAN.

The President declared that he considered it a compliment to belong to the Bricklayers' Union and pulled from an inside pocket the card entitling him to a vote in its proceedings.

"I would like to have the international body of which our body is a part hold its convention of 1901 in Washington," said the President, and the bricklayers were about to retire. President Gubbins thanked him for the invitation and declared that the matter would be laid before the delegates to the convention of 1901.

When the President emerged from the hour's seclusion he could not have been nearer perfection. Mr. McKinley drove first to the "Battle of Manila," a panoramic reproduction of the famous battle, where he spent a few moments.

GREETING THE VETERANS.

In the G. A. R. Memorial Hall he next greeted the Army of the Tennessee, which is holding its reunion at that place. In addition to the 60 veterans present, the hall was packed with spectators, who cheered frantically.

General M. Dodge, in introducing the President, declared he could rest assured of the support of the Army of the Tennessee in his present policy.

THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH.

The President responded to the cheering and said: "I do not intend to interrupt your business at this meeting, and have only called that I may pay my respects and express my warmest wishes to the Army of the Tennessee, and respond with expressions of gratitude and satisfaction to the warm words of General Dodge, who has so ably represented the support of the Army of the Tennessee to the flag and the patriotic purposes of the government of the United States."

In such a speech, said the President, your chairman, I could have known without his stating it where the army would stand when the flag was assailed by soldiers and sailors of the republic. I would know where this veteran army would stand when I should recall its valor and its loyalty, and as I said, I have only come to pledge the honor which I feel for the veterans of 1861, who have for more than thirty years taught patriotism to the people of the United States, and when the hour of peril came last year, as a result of your patriotic devotion, the flag was saved and the Republic preserved.

MRS. McKINLEY HONORED.

After leaving the veterans, Mr. McKinley took a short drive, followed by a cavalcade of the city's guests, and ended at the home of Mrs. McKinley. The entire party was then driven to the hall of the Women's Athletic Club, where a light luncheon was served in honor of Mr. and Mrs. McKinley.

Society leaders and women prominent in various kinds of work had assembled early in the afternoon to greet the President and Mrs. McKinley.

An exhibition of swimming was given, which was warmly appreciated. Mrs. McKinley and Miss Barber returned to the hotel, while the President cheered all along the route, betook himself to the White House.

This afternoon President McKinley held a public reception at the G. A. R. Memorial Hall, where thousands of people were in line and shook hands with him.

BOERS DECLARE WAR ON GREAT BRITAIN. The Transvaal Demands That Troops Be Withdrawn at Once or Hostilities Will Begin Tomorrow.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 10.—The Transvaal government has sent an ultimatum to Great Britain.

An urgent dispatch has just been handed to Conyngham Greene, the British diplomatic agent, requesting an explicit assurance of the withdrawal within forty-eight hours of the British troops from the Transvaal borders, as well as the withdrawal of all the British forces landed in South Africa since the Bloemfontein conference.

KAFFIR STOCKS FIRMER.

The effect of the news of the Transvaal's ultimatum on the Stock Exchange was standing. Kaffirs were firmer in the belief that the most gigantic gold industry in the world will be incorporated in the British empire as the outcome of the war.

LIMIT EXPIRES TOMORROW.

The text of the Transvaal ultimatum, it is understood, is on the way to the British Foreign Office. According to the latest advice the time limit expires tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock, when, if the demands of the Boers are not complied with, the further breaking of troops will be considered an act of war and hostilities will commence.

WAR IS NOW CERTAIN.

In ordinary circumstances, as Great Britain is the government making the demands, she would be the dispatcher of the ultimatum, and the fact that the Boers have taken the initiative is regarded as rendering the situation more serious and increasing the hopelessness of averting war.

The more peaceful tenor of the morning's news and comments had scarcely been digested and absorbed when President Kruger's birthday would also mark the commencement of the disintegration of the clouds hanging over South Africa when the sensational announcement that the Transvaal government had handed a definite ultimatum to the British diplomatic agent in Pretoria, caused a rapid slump in the hopes of those who believe Great Britain will adhere to her present persuasive methods.

PEACE PARTY'S DREAMS.

The speech of the Duke of Devonshire, Lord President of the Council of Ministers, at Sheffield yesterday, contains no hint to confirm the assertion made by the press that the final proposals of the British government will contain sweeping aggressive concessions, and to this extent it has cooled the waters.

The peace party even deduces from the Duke's utterances that a reformation of President Kruger's proposals of a five years' franchise, minus the sovereignty proviso, would lead to such negotiations as would insure peace.

It is understood from the movements of Ministers and the activity in the government offices that developments are imminent, and that whether they are pacific or warlike remains an enigma.

A SIGNIFICANT INCIDENT.

When the station was reached an incident occurred typical of the readiness of the colonists to fight. A young man, former Governor and Commander-in-Chief of New South Wales, was present. A Sergeant Major stepped forward and drew Lord Hampden's attention to the fact that he was wearing the same sword used by His Lordship when, of the latter belonged to the New South Wales Lancers. Lord Hampden was about to examine the weapon, when the Sergeant Major cautioned him, saying: "That sword has been sharpened and is ready for active service."

BRITISH BAGER TO FIGHT.

The reports from all the military centers show that the mobilization orders are received with the greatest enthusiasm. The Transvaal of Schepers' Ark, near Vryheid, which is a little north and east of the British stronghold at New Castle, the border near Dundee are 5,000 Boers and others are marching thither. At Mafeking, in Bechuanaland, on the western border, Colonel Baden-Powell, commander of all the local forces in South Africa, is stationed and is threatened with 2,000 Boers under Commandant Cronje. Another Boer force is massed at Pietersburg, to the north.

The wonder is why, if President Kruger is resolved upon fighting, he has waited so long. The explanation seems to be that his hand has been forced by the fact that the Boers have got out of control, or that he awaited the arrival of the British army corps, the chances of military success for him would be of the slightest possible character.

WILL ENLIST REFUGEES.

The expiration of the time limit of the ultimatum tomorrow evening does not leave Great Britain much time to strengthen the present military position, although there are still a few troops at Durban, Natal, available for dispatch to the front, but the government will doubtless now adopt the suggestion to form the refugees from the Rand into volunteer regiments, thus, while relieving their distress, utilizing excellent material.

Outside the momentous news of the ultimatum nothing of moment has been received this morning from the scene of action except the announcement that the Boers have constructed forts commanding Laining's Nek and the Boers have been mounted on Mount Fowans and Mount Prospect.

The officials at the Colonial Office worked all night, and Mr. Chamberlain arrived there early this morning, in some quarters it is estimated that the government has received notification in consequence, as the government considers the Boers now placed in a position of having forced on war.

WAR BEING IN LONDON.

Whatever official feeling may be, there is no mistaking the significance of the great manifestation, combined with war spirit, of the military that occurred in the streets of London this morning, when the New South Wales Lancers traversed the city to embark for South Africa.

From the arrival of the squadron at Waterloo station to the disembarking on the railway train at Fenchurch station, tumultuous scenes of wild enthusiasm marked the route. The soldiers were allowed to play nothing but "Soldiers of the Queen," "Rifle Brigade," and "God Save the Queen," in which the dense crowds joined.

WILD ENTHUSIASM.

It is doubtful if such frenzied welcome was ever before witnessed in London. There was an incessant roar of cheers and song until the Mansion House, the official residence of the Lord Mayor of London, was reached. Here a battle was conducted by the Lord Mayor, Sir John Vane, and it was only with the greatest difficulty that the Lord Mayor, Sir John Vane, in the full robes of his office, restrained the shouting and vociferous cheering when he addressed the troops, wishing them God speed and expressing his confidence in the country's heroic determination to assert imperial supremacy in South Africa. Sir John said:

"I hope there will not be war, but the necessities of the moment require a demonstration of our solidarity."

An inspiring scene closed with the singing of the national anthem, the Lord Mayor leading.

A similar occurrence took place at Fenchurch station. The windows of the neighborhood were crowded with sightseers, who showered miniature Union Jacks and squares of burning incense, pouring out the Queen upon the passing troops.

DEMANDS OF THE BOERS.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The Transvaal ultimatum, which is signed by P. W. Botha, Secretary of State, concludes with the following words:

"Her Majesty's unlawful intervention in the internal affairs of this republic, in conflict with the London convention of 1884, by the extraordinary strengthening of her troops in the neighborhood borders"

MAP SHOWING PROXIMITY OF THE BOERS TO THE BRITISH BORDER.

On this map will be seen the points at which the British forces are gathered on the Transvaal border and also the points at which the Boers are massing preparatory to war. The chief interest centers around Dundee. This position, it is believed, will be the first on which the strength of the Boer army will be tested. A camp has been established by the soldiers of the Transvaal of Schepers' Ark, near Vryheid, which is a little north and east of the British stronghold at New Castle. Along the border near Dundee are 5,000 Boers and others are marching thither. At Mafeking, in Bechuanaland, on the western border, Colonel Baden-Powell, commander of all the local forces in South Africa, is stationed and is threatened with 2,000 Boers under Commandant Cronje. Another Boer force is massed at Pietersburg, to the north.

the street, Oahu, this morning.

Mr. Banning was all smiles today when he was taken to the place in his hands and he found that the contents were the same as when the package mysteriously disappeared.

TELE TRUST.

Mr. Banning, who has charge of his father's rich estate in the Hawaiian Islands, is frequently called to Honolulu to look after his large interests. When at home he lives at the family residence on Adelaide street.

A short time ago, when he was leaving Honolulu for San Francisco, he was given a package valued at $80,000 in securities. Banning is very popular with the business men at Honolulu. They did not desire to trust the precious package to the hands of a porter. Mr. Banning agreed to take charge of it, and see that the securities were delivered to the proper people in San Francisco and Oahu.

The trip across the ocean was made all right, and in due time Mr. Banning and the package arrived in San Francisco.

When he returned to Honolulu, which was securely sealed.

Upon the arrival of the steamer across the bay Mr. Banning went to the docks to see how the package was stored, and secured quarters. He was given a investigation was made and it was soon learned that the valise containing the securities had been taken away from the hotel.

It appears that the pursuer of a Japan-going vessel had just vacated the room assigned to him. During the absence of the latter the purser's baggage was taken out of the room, also Banning's valise, and sent to the steamer, which was scheduled to sail immediately for Japan.

STEAMER SAILS.

The alarm that $80,000 was missing was a once given and several men rushed down to the pier. The steamer had sailed for Japan. It was learned, however, that Banning's valise had been sent in the purser's room. Just before the steamer sailed the purser had done as there was no way to intercept the package by telegraph.

TREASURE ON WEAR.

In the course of the trip the purser discovered that he had lost the valise in his room. He did not know the contents of the valise nor did he open it.

And now, when the purser arrived at Honolulu, he found the valise on the wharf with a lot of other freight and there it remained.

the buy Mr. Banning went to the Occidental Hotel, where he was well known, and secured quarters. He was given a large room and also the key to the apartment.

When Mr. Banning entered the room he saw a few valises in it, but this did not worry him. He thought they had been stored in the room. He placed his valise in the room, locked the door and went to the office for a few moments in order to complete arrangements to stop at the hotel. In a short time Mr. Banning returned to his room.

Horolulu he threw the valise on the wharf with a lot of other freight and there it remained.

MISSING TREASURE.

By the next steamer that went to Honolulu inquiries were sent out regarding the missing treasure. The agents of the steamship company were directed to make a thorough search at Honolulu for the packages. At last the treasure was found on this wharf, where it had been for three weeks.

This morning it was placed in the hands of Mr. Banning.

FUNERAL OF FRED A POOR

The funeral of Frederick Allen Poor occurred this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the parlors of the Unitarian church, corner of Townsend and Cass streets.

The services which were exceedingly simple were conducted by the Rev. A. J. Wells, pastor of the United Unitarian church of San Francisco. Two stanzas of "Nearer My God to Thee" were sung by Mrs. Carrie Brown-Dexter.

The small band of flowers—George W. Reel, P. W. Hall, George Hobbs, A. D. Smith, J. Ghirardelli and Colonel James.

The floral offerings sent by intimate friends were very heavy. A large bust of immense white chrysanthemums sent by the Connecticut Insurance Company was especially noticeable.

The interment, which was private, took place in Mountain View Cemetery.

Says She Was Struck.

The action of Sarah Rose against Alfred D. McNevin, Phoebe A. McNevin and C. A. Stover was before Judge George Greene today. Mrs. Rose alleged that she was struck in a deal by which she purchased a lodging house at 715 Eighth street for $100,000, and that the defendants gave a promissory note for $75,000. She now alleges that the property is not worth half what she paid.

fire is burning steadily towards Loma Prieta, but it is difficult to get exact word. That section is remote from communication. When word comes it will probably reach Watsonville first. Up to 12 o'clock today no additional damage evident except that occurred in the territory near Wrights.

Fire has spread north towards the great basin section. Much timber has been damaged, and the fire is getting thorough hold in the underbrush in the great basin, valuable commercial timber & a great deal of brush.

There is no alarm at Los Gatos, as it would be almost impossible for the fire to reach that place, no matter how much it might spread. Lumber men here who own railroad forests in and near the great basin are alarmed, but so far to-day the mountain fires have not spread since yesterday afternoon. This is construed to mean that the watchers have not found it necessary to go out to telephone.

While some of the estimates of loss run way up to half a million dollars, many persons do not think it is so great, since most of the section burned over was largely mountain brush. But starting work of further spreading and destruction of the great mountain timber may come at any time if a cold spring up.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.
WATSONVILLE, Oct. 10.—The residence of Samuel Simmons was totally destroyed by fire last night, and Simmons was killed. A careful search of the premises failed to disclose anything which would be a clue to the cause of the fire and the death in the flames. There are suspicious circumstances connected with the burning of the building.

What's Your Husband's Weight?

Say it is 175 pounds. Do you suppose he would be a better husband and father, a better provider or more affectionate and congenial, if he weighed 275 pounds? Certainly not! A husband's weight has nothing to do with his QUALITY as a husband. Equally ridiculous is it to claim that a store of good size, well stocked with merchandise that has been bought right and marked to sell at right prices, cannot supply your wants as well as one twice as big.

If we carry the line you wish, the largest store in California cannot do better for you than can we.

Council in favor of a straight opening should be shown by the vote, then the resolution could be amended in favor of such an opening.

The vote was as follows:
Straight opening—Curtis, Kramm, Messer, Stinson, Taylor, Rowe—5.
Angle—Mott, S. Miller—2.
Absent—Upson—1.

Mr. Grand said he was in favor of the opening of this street, and he did not care in what manner it was opened, so long as it was opened.

Mr. Mott then moved that the City Engineer and City Attorney be authorized to prepare a new resolution of intention for the opening in a straight line of Washington street and that they be accepted.

"THE TWO ORPHANS" A DEWEY SUCCESS.

The familiar but ever-welcome "Two Orphans" was given at the Dewey last night to a large audience. The play was finely acted by Manager Stevens and the Grand Stock Company did not ably good work in its presentation.

"Two Orphans" is a play that time cannot wear nor to tell us that the so charged with human interest, so intensely dramatic and so cleverly put together that its charm is perennial. It is one of the classics of melodrama, and will be a favorite as long as the human heart is capable of being thrilled by deeds of heroism or shocked by cruelty. The Dewey is in for another prosperous week—a properly richly deserved by the enterprising management which makes it a pleasure to see the play.

IMPERFECT DRAINS.

Care Should Be Taken that the Impurities Be Properly Carried Off.

Everyone knows of the fatal results which follow the stoppage of the drains in a house.

Queen Victoria's husband, the Prince Consort, died from poisonous germs, which were generated in the palace by the stoppage of the drains.

The kidneys, among their many other functions, act as drains to the body. Through them the blood passes to be purified, leaving behind a mass of excrement which it is their duty to eject from the system.

When, however, the kidneys become congested and all clogged up, this refuse matter accumulates and becomes an active poison, and in course of time, infects the whole man, and eventually, if the cause is not removed, it causes sudden death, the patient drowning, as it were, in his own secretions.

The symptoms which Nature puts forth like danger signals to tell us that the kidneys no longer do their duty are too numerous to set forth.

The symptoms which Nature puts forth like danger signals to tell us that the kidneys no longer do their duty are too numerous to set forth.

Nearly always women's peculiar ailments in their more aggravated and protracted forms are traceable to this source, and rheumatism, in all its varied phases, while pneumonia and Bright's disease are but the culmination of an organic trouble, which had been treated organically and not symptomatically, could not possibly have had any such fatal termination.

Coughs and colds, strange as it may seem, are oftentimes symptoms of trouble in the kidneys.

What must be done, then, in these cases? It is surely unwise to treat symptoms when we can at once heal the organ from whence the symptoms rise.

Let us then at once go to the root of the trouble and heal the kidneys. There is no remedy known at the world over, that will strengthen them, so that they can perform their functions; feeding them and clothing them with the patient immediately feels the good work that is going on, and in a few weeks is able to join in the ordinary pursuits of life.

We gratefully acknowledge that they owe health and strength, and sometimes life itself, to this untiring remedy, Warner's Safe Cure.

MRS. BLAKE'S PAPER.

It will be ten years the 25th of May, 1890, since our Non-Partisan Woman's Christian Temperance Union was organized in Oakland.

Although we cannot boast of any very large work, still we have the satisfaction to know that we have stood by our convictions for the right. What can be a stronger incentive to work than to be assured that we are doing right, and to believe the greatest work we have accomplished in Oakland has been in the help of a general routine of business was transacted. The paper below, given by the President, will voice the spirit and sentiments of the Union, which has worked quietly and unostentatiously for years.

WIDOWS WAR OVER AN OLD MAN'S ESTATE.

Mrs. Alice B. Hart has been cited to appear before Judge Ogden and render an account of the estate of her deceased husband, George Godfrey, who died about five years ago.

The citation was issued on the petition of Mrs. Mary A. Henry, a former wife of Godfrey.

Godfrey was past 70 years of age when he married Mrs. Henry. She was a carpenter's daughter and was not possessed of much of this world's goods. He was rich and able to provide luxuries for a young wife and her children. Their marriage was a happy one, and later the young wife ran away with a man named Henry. Godfrey secured a divorce and married Mrs. Alice B. Hart, who is now Mrs. Alice E. Hart. For some time after Godfrey's death there was a lively fight over his property. It seems probable that the fight is about to be resumed.
